the Utah-California, a company projected by the late Abraham H. Cannon of Salt Lake, but which may be said to have died with him. This grade had been constructed several years before by the Union Pacific, but was forfeited to the State of Nevada when the Union Pacific went into the hands of a receiver on account of the failure of the Baring Brothers. It cost about $2,000,000, and is well worth fighting for. The decision of the court did not deter Harriman. On the contrary, it impelled him to immediate action, and he proceeded immediately to do precisely what the court held he could not do.

EFFORT TO STOP IT.

Atty. C. O. Whittmore of Salt Lake has gone to railroading was made here today by the Oregon Short Pioche to institute legal proceedings that are expected to stop the Short Line extension, but it is claimed Californians Have Too Much millions. The movement had for its purpose, it is that the Short Line will stop for nothing, and, in view said, the throttling of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and of this fact, serious conditions may arise. General Salt Lake road, promoted by Senator W. A. Clark of Manager Bancroft, of the Short Line, returned to the

Our men were at work that five miles of track has been laid in the last two all day today, and the Short Line now extends into the state of Nevada. I cannot tell how long it will take us to reach Los Angeles, but, as I stated before, there will be no delay whatever in the construction work.

> "We have the preliminary surveys of the Union Pacific, and most likely we will follow them all the way through. There may be one or two changes, I cannot tell, but our main object now is in getting started. Our surveyors and right-of-way agents can perform their work while the men behind are layng track. That is business, and the Short Line m business. We will not stop laying track for a single day until Clover Valley Junction is reached. That is the terminus of the Union Pacific survey of 1890, forty-five miles beyond Uvada. The rest of the distance to Los Angeles will be graded with as much rapidity as practicable, and track-laying will go right on then. Further than this I cannot discuss our future plans."

> But this much more was disclosed by Bancroft, namely, that the Short Line will build what has been called the Leamington cut-off. That is something over one hundred miles of road from Garfield Beach to Leamington. This, too, is to be built at once and is to become a part of the Short Line system to Los Angeles.

WHITTEMORE'S MEN OVER-RUN BY SHORT LINE FORCES

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE, April 8 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] The Oregon Short Line has arbitrarily occupied the grade below Uvada which the Land Office decision gave to the Utah and California. Reports from the scene received tonight show that great excitement prevails at the State line. Atty. C. O. Whittemore of the Utah and California road, and also of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake road, accompanied by several men, pitched a tent on the grade at the State line, and when the Short Line forces of over two hundred men appeared, Whittemore protested against the invasion, claiming that the Land Office decision showed that the Short Line had no title to the grade, but that the Utah and California had.

The big force of the Short Line pushed through the five or six men of Whittemore's little band. The did not permit any clear explanation of the real state of affairs.

The doubt arises from the fact that Mr. Rockhill's latest dispatch does not mention any such disarrangetients, and the officials feel disposed to accept this as pretty strong evidence that prior intimations of discord have not taken actual form. Yet the dispatch received from Mr. Squires, the American Charge d'Affaires in the absence of Minister Conger, appears to have been quite explicit that the difficulty had already made itself manifest. It is thought possible at the State Department that the circumstances to which Mr. Squires veferred occurred prior to the receipt in Peking of the last Russian note, and that the trouble may have been adjusted subsequently.

The State Department maintains an attitude of doubt and expectancy, and is not yet prepared to admit that there has been an interruption of intercourse between the two countries, either limited or complete.

Aside from the telegraphic advices there are some attending circumstances which indicate that at least some strain or partial interruption of intercourse has occurred. The fact develoned in Washington about a week ago that Russia had delivered to China. what amounted to an ultimatum on the signing of the Manchurian agreement. This followed the usual course of ultimatums, and fixed a definite limit of days within which China could act. It also conveyed the clear intimation that unfavorable action by China would lead to a severance of diplomatic relations between the two countries. The limit of time fixed is believed to have been one week, and to have expired last Wednesday. China did not sign within the time limit, and the next day. Thursday, Russia addressed her note to the powers, which had been accepted as removing the pressure over the Manchurian agreement. This at first seemed to be a waiver of her prior intimation of an interruption of diplomatic intercourse, and yet there was no such explicit waiver, and then have been one week, and the precion of a casuality of a private sold

The magistrate who was endeavoring to protect the Christians was killed. Gov. Yuan Shih Kai dispatched troops Gov. Tuan Shih Kai dispatched treops to restore order. News was received today that the Germans had advanced further west. They met with some opposition from Chinese troops. Chinamen of all classes are extremely saxious concerning the outcome of the Manchurian question. Though they are ignorant, as a rule, of the actual points of the proposed agreement, they are convinced that any treaty with Russia will threaten the integrity of China. Many are disparated, and openly acknowledge that partition is coming, some even believing that such definite action would be better than the present indefiniteness, without the prospect of reforms that would tend to maintain the integrity of the empire.

Board of Walking Delegates to Order Strikes on Every Building in Course of Erection in Effort to Hurt Building

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.

IBY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, April 8.—The World says the board of walking delegates and the members of the Building Trades Council intend to make a bitter war against each other. The announcement was made at the Central Féderated Union last night.

President Pattison of the Board of Walking Delegates stated that he intended to order strikes on every building in the course of erection in the city where members of the Trades Council are employed. Hundreds will quit their employment, leaving only members of the Trades Council at work. The Council will endeavor to fill the places of those on strike among the unions represented in the Board of Walking Delegates, and then there will be trouble.

It was stated that the trouble was started by the Elevator Constructors' Union, which filled the places of striking elevator constructors who are connected with Board of Walking Delegates.

RAILPOADERS CONSERVATIVE. WAGE DISPUTE YET UNSETTLED NEW YORK, April 1.—Neither employers nor employes have made decisive moves in the wage dispute that may terminate with a strike on the Central Road of New Jersey. It is expected that the men will confer within the next twenty-four hours, and by vote agree upon a plan of action.

It is difficult to take the measure of the sentiment of the moving army of men that a railway system employs, but as far as it can be sounded on the Central, the men seem moved by a spirit of conservatism and to be inclined to refrain from striking until every resource of conference and arbitration has been exhausted.

INT DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 8.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Alexander Sens, an Italian contractor of No. 35 Livingston street, Newark, is at a private sanitarium in Brooklyn, recovering from an unusual operation. Sens was seized with pleurisy, eleven months ago, and empysems developed. This is a swelling produced by gas or air in the cellular tissue. His lungs became ruptured, and he suffered greatly. An incision about four inches square was made in the right side, and about three inches of each of two and about three inches of es and about three inches of each of two ribs cut away. The wound was sewed up after a tube had been inserted to carry off the gas.

Sena was conscious throughout the operation, having declined to take anaesthetics. No groan escaped him while the surgeons were using the knife, but when the operation was finished it was found that he had almost bitten off the end of his tongue.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) MEMPHIS (Tenn.) April 5.—Refore 10,000 persons T. P. Hayes's colt Royal Victor won the Tennessee Derby at Montgomery from John E. Schorr's bay filly Lady Schorr, with George Long's bay cole Gaheris third. The time, 1:57, was a very creditable performance.

The Schorr stable had named three starters, but Alard Scheck and Joe Frey were spatiched, and Farmer Bennett was added to keep Lady Schorr company. Siddons, The Commander and Died Description. and Dick Burgess were also scrutched.

and Dick Burgers were also scratched.

The Schorr pair were held at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 3, while 8 to 1 was laid against Royal Victor.

After two faise breaks they were sent away to an excellent start, with Royal Victor a head in front of Farmer Bennett, and the others close uppers are Bennett and Lady Schorr, raced to the front, and the Royal Victor a length away, made the running to the scratch. At this point, Winkfield sent the Hayes colt up to the leafers, and in the run home, he challenged Lady Schorr. J. Woods, on the laster, went to the whip, but his efforts were of no avail, Royal Victor, well ridden by Winkfield, winning handlip by three parts of a length. Spring Meeting at Aqueduct Begins Next Week-Kinley Mac Leads All the Handicap Candidates-Imp and Ethelbert not Yet in Condition.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M. season on the metropolitan tracks will be ushered in at Aqueduct one week from today.

Kinley Mac leads the field of handi-cap candidates. He has wintered excap candidates. He has wintered ex-ceptionally and is stronger and more lusty in wind and body than last season. His trainer has paid careful attention to his legs, and to the naked eye they appear much better than they were when he won both the Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps. the campaign.

Imp will not be ready for the bugic call till late in the season. She is not engaged in any early stakes and her trainer will not get her ready till the latter part of the first Coney Island Jockey Club meeting. When Saratoga opens this mare will be in fine fettle.

Voter, James R. Keene's crack sprinter, is training down at Brookdale, N. J. Like the majority of the Keene horses, he has improved in looks during his let-up in training. He has all his old speed and is being galloped daily in order to get him in shape for the Metropolitan.

Of the three-year-olds entered in the big handlcap, Beau Gallant, Bellario and All Green are the most prominent. The first two are owned by Richard Croker, who bought them last fall after they had won a number of high-plass races. Beau Gallant had the distinction of heading Commander in the only race Mr. Keene's coit lost. He will not be a factor in the early races. He was not extensively engaged before Croker bought him, and has only been recenily entered in a number of stakes.

Beliario is being "drummed" along in his work in order to get him ready for Morris Park. His first effort will be the Metropolitan Handlcap. All Green will start in the Metropolitan unless something unforeseen crops up. This colt has entirely recovered from the lameness that kept him from winning more races last year than he is credited with. He has worked well. He is fast, can carry weight and go a distance, and should the track be muddy his chance would be enhanced considerably.

Following is the letter to which the writer of the foregoing refers:
An Open Letter to Dr. George S. Goodspeed, and Prof. Shaller Matthews, Teachers of Divinity in Chicago University: Our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ, by various illustrations, taught the condition and destiny of mankind as viewed from a divine standpoint. There were the wheat and the tares, the good and the bad fishes, the sheep and the goats, the righteous and the wicked; and two positions at the great judgment day, the right and the iest. No middle ground for the good moral man, the almost Christian, and the half-hearted disciple.
God sees but two classes of people in this world—His adopted sons, and the allens who have no inheritance in the spiritual kingdom. All leaders have two classes of followers or disciples—the true and the false. The true disciple not only loves to indorse all that his lord or leader asserts, but regards it his duty to do so; but if a master makes assertions that in the estimation of a disciple are doubtriol or untrue, and the disciple rejects them, he at once rises superior to his master and is no longer his disciple. Especially is it so, if at the first he regarded his lord as infallible. If one fallible point presents itself, the whole claim of infallibility falls to the ground, and his lordanip is worse than degraded, he is scorned for his sasumption.

gunboats and other small vessels which are to be maintained exclusively in the Philippines. These men will form the nucleus of an important service composed solely of enlisted men. Rear-Admiral Crowninshield, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, believes that besides resulting in the government obtaining efficient service, the employment of natives will spread respect for the American language and create a strong feeling of loyalty.

Reports received from Rear-Admiral Remey have shown that Americans, especially those serving in the fire rooms, become quickly debilitated, and it is necessary to send them to the United States or Japan to recuperate. It is oclieved that the health of Filipinos will not suffer because they are acclimated, and if they do become ili it will be an easy matter for them to recover in the Philippines.

No difficulty will be experienced in obtaining trained men. During the fall of 1898, Lieutenant-Commander Coltman, now in charge of the enlisted men's branch of the Bureau of Navigation, opened the Escuela Nautical, or nautical school, to train Filipino youths to carry on their intelisland commerce. Good results have been obtained from this sche.

That was his actual traveling time from Dawson to Seattle. From Dawson to the sea he followed the United States mall carriers' route and the government military road being constructed from Valdes to Eagle City. His faithful dog, a Russian terrier, accompanied him on his journey through the wilds of Alaska. The dog hauled a sied loaded with provisions, and bedding sufficient for his master and himself. As they progressed on their journey, the dog's burden was lightened, but at no time did he show the slightest inclination to desert or rebel.

The long march was ended last Saturday on the snow-covered Valdes Glacier, where so many fortune-hunters met death during the winter of 1898. Resuming their journey to Valdes, they arirved Sunday, in time to catch the Oregon for Seattle. Jaynes thinks the Copper River route to the Yukon is designed to be the one generally used as soon as the government road is completed. Even now, he says, it is not a difficult trip if the mail carriers' trail is followed.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) MILES CITY (Mont.,) April 8 .- [Exusive Dispatch.] One man killed, or for cattle "rustlers" in which Stock Inspector W. D. Smith has been engaged fo rthe past month. The man killed was James McPeck, alias Jack McArthur. The one arrested is S. D. Chapelle of Wibaux, and warrants were issued for five others. Twentytwo head of live cattle and eleven hide were obtained, the property of the Morning Star Cattle Company of Stroud, N. D., the cattle being sold to Johnny Bolz at Gebo, Carbon county

by S.B. Chapelle.

Chapelle was arrested at Wibaux by the posse without resistance. They then started for the McDonald ranch, and arrested McDonald. McPeck then rode up to within thirty-five steps of the door, when he was halted by Smith and ordered to throw up his hands. He pulled his Winchester and turned his horse to run, when the posse fired about thirty shots, dropping both horse and rider. About fifteen shots were found in the carcass of the horse. McPeck was struck by a bullet just below the heart. He fired six shots after he was down, emptying the magazine of his gun. He died the next morning. by S .B. Chapelle.

yesterday that the Union Pacific, which now controls the Central and Southern Pacific, had actually begun Southern Pacific, had actually begun work in extending the Utah Pacific southerly from Uvada, created a good-deal of interest in railroad circles. The Union Pacific years ago built from Salt Lake to Milford, in Utah, and graded the road on about 150 miles, crossing the State line and extending forty miles into Nevada. Then the road got into trouble and the work stopped.

that time and the name of Utah and Pacific was given the road.

In an interview in The Times, had with Superintendent Towns, it was stated that the work we did be pushed right along to Los Angeles. But when the State line was reached the work was stopped. The Oregon Short Line was said to be backing the project and the Union Pacific was behind the Short Line.

Some days ago news reached here that by a decision of the courts of Nevada, the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake road had acquired absolute control of the right of the Union Pacific in the old road bed, forty miles long, graded so many years ago. But now comes this news and says the Union Pacific has laid claim to its cast off enterprise and is actually laying rails on the old grade.

This line passes right through Meadow Valley and a region very rich in mineral wealth. The road that gets exclusive control of that region will have a prize.

LONDON, April 8.—[Exclusive Dis-patch.] The masterful disposition of King Edward is illustrated by the arrangement under which, in the new civil list, he retains absolute command of the family purse. Formerly the Queen Consort had a separate amount voted for her private expenses. This time $550,000 per annum was set apart for this purpose for the King and Queen jointly. When the members of the select committee suggested that the Queen's allowance be separate, the Chancellor of the Exchequer replied that the King desired the Queen's allowance left to him. It is believed that he expects to keep her under control by making her entirely dependent upon him, and that if she persists in evading her public duties, her allowance will be

Three or four years ago the Oregon short Line took up this work and pushed the road on about 190 miles from Milford to Uvada, on the line between Utah and Newada. New blood exclusive control of that region will have a prize.

J. Ross Clark, vice-president of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake road, and the direct representative of Senator W. A. Clark, said yesterday that he had heard nothing of this move, excepting what was in The Times. He stated that his road has acquired title to the old grade of the Union Pacific, and that it is his opinion that the title is good. He said further that the building of the Union Pacific line has in no way changed the plans of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company; that company will go on and build its line without reference to the action of the Union Pacific.

There is a significent fact in this connection. Southern Pacific officials, whenever they could be got to talk, have for years smiled increduously at any road being built from Salt Lake to Los Angeles, excepting by the Southern Pacific. They have always said, "Whenever that road is built, we will build it."

another a radical change has been made.

The two shipments made were by the Exchange and were billed to Seattle. Now there is a shrough rate by steamer to Puget Sound points, in competition with the all-rail line to those points. This through rate absorbs the local rates from all points in Southern California to Redondo or Port Los Angeles.

The Exchange officials assumed that this rate would apply to these shipments. But as soon as the railroads learned that the fruit was sent from Seattle to Minneapolis, Chicago and other points in competition with the all-rail lines to those points the auditors of the local lines were instructed to collect full local rates from the initial points to Redondo and Port Los Angeles on all such shipments. These local rates are as high as 35 cents per cental from some interior points. The fruit was sent through on a "postage stamp" rate of $1.25 per 100 pounds, as by all-rail routes. None of these oranges were sent East of Chicago. From Minneapolis to that city the local rate would be about 11 cents per 100 pounds. This would leave on some fruit 79 cents per 100 pounds to divide between the teamship company and the Great Northern. The railroad men figure that it would leave of 4 cents for the Great Northern on the Chicago shipments and 65 cents on the Minneapolis business.

THE TIDE OF EMIGRATION.

The political change brought about by the establishment of the empire was another stride in advance. It had to do not only with the relations of the German States among themselves, but also the promotion in a political way of the commercial interests of a united people and the continued allegiance to the fatherland of the thousands of emigrants who were leaving and settling in distant countries. During the fifty years from 1820 to 1870 it is estimated that about 3,500,000 persons emigrated from Germany, while during the comparatively short period of twenty years, from 1871 to 1891—the period when the new colonization movement was fast taking hold—nearly 2,000,000 of the population left to improve their condition in rew, countries.

by German adventurers during earlier periods. German settlements existed on the coast of Africa more than 200 years ago. Still earlier, ships from Brandenburg found their way to the west coast of Africa in quest of slaves and gold, and Brandenburgers, together with the Prussian company of Emden, finally managed at the close of the sertenteenth century to establish a foothold on the Gold Coast. As early as 1681 the Brandenburg meri-hants had organized for purposes of trade in Africa the Brandenburg African Company, but by 1726, distracted by quarrels at home, it had abandoned its West African enterprise. Again, in the early '40s of the last century, Germany gave some consideration to the question of colonization, this time to the uncoccupied territories in America.

Prom 1866 to 1856 her attention was are only collecting their forces for a final effort. The withdrawal of their petition was only a subterfuge. It had answered its purpose and they only wanted to prevent us from obtaining the names on it. But we fooled them. We have a certified copy of it. We will we have a certified copy of it. We will anticipate every move they make and we will beat them out easily. "The saloon men may have some-thing under cover. I do not know what it is, and I don't care. Let them pre-sent it and they will find us ready for them."

A STREET IN DAR ES SALAAM, GERMAN EAST AFRICA.

again turned to Africa, when a Hanoverian baron, Von der Decken, was exploring the East African coast. It occurred to him that Zanzibar and the adjacent mainland would be a good field for German colonization and enterprise, especially as the opening of the Suez Canal would soon shorten the route to those regions. His idea was acted upon, and the work begun by him was carried on by Hamburg merchants, who established a flourishing trade at Zanzibar. MPULSES DUE TO NATIONAL a new era. These political and economic changes, together with the emigration from Germany of large numbers of her people, are the prime factors in her present colonial polity. The political change brought about by the founding of the empire was in some result of this change has been a great increase in population, notwithstanding the continued heavy drain through emigration, for a nation which has developed industries as well as agriculture is capable of sustaining a larger population than a purely agricultural nation. During the quarter-century from 1855 to 1850 the increase in population was considerably less than 7,000,000, while during the quarter-century from 1870 to 1895 the increase was from 40,816,000 to 52,247,000, or nearly 11,500,000, and that, too, in face of the fact that during those years the country lost more heavily through emigration than in any other period of its history. That this increase in population is directly connected with the growth of the great manufacturing industries may be seen from the changed ratio of rural to urban population. From 1871 to 1850 there was an actual decrease of nearly 35,000 in the number of people in the same period the population in the

While The Times' select party to the Pan-American Exposition is to travel in one of the finest trains ever travel in one of the linest trains ever run, enjoy every comfort possible in traveling, make good time, and see the great show at Buffalo thoroughly, it is a further striking fact that on this trip hone of the really big sights in the country will be missed. Go to Denver, Pike's Peak, the Garden of the Gods, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City and Sab Francisco; inspect Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Washington, D.C.; New York City and Buffalo and all their attractions, within and without; see Niagara Falls in the "month of roses" when the waters are at their best; cross the continent twice, much of the way by different routes, pass through fourteen States and travel over 5500 miles, and what is there remaining to be seen? All this The Times' select party will do in just thirty days between June 4 and the Fourth of July.

This trip, concerning which more may be learned from a booklet prepared by The Times, will be novel and interesting in many respects, and is already attracting much attention. The flying special train of Pullmans, with its seventy-five passengers, will be the cynosure of many eyes between the Pacific and Atlantic seas, but those who will do the real seeing will be the fortunate ones riding in the "palace on wheels" over the best railroads in the world.

The booking of those who will comprise this party is already well under way.

The average man or woman who reads the daily paper and tries to unravel the mysteries surrounding the various phases of international politics quite often meets the words "diplomat" and "diplomacy." Without furtheir digging into Webster or Johnson he knows the meaning of these words, and perhaps feels due respect for them. He is probably well aware of the fact he knows the meaning of these words, and perhaps feels due respect for them. He is probably well aware of the fact that it is not always sheer force of arms that wins victories and reaps the benefit arising therefrom. He has been told time and again that at various epochs in the history of nations the statesmen who had been gifted with the subtle art of gaining their point without the firing of a gun, have fared the best both as individuals and as defenders of their respective countries. Here his information stops. In these turbulent days of war talk and war preparations, when the diplomats of the world are doing their utmost—some to bring about war, others to prevent it—a more intimate knowledge of their work, the history of some great men who have made themselves and their countries famous, may not be amiss.

A pretty and interesting booklet, "Twenty-first Legislature of Arizona, 1901," has been published by James H. McClintock of Phoenix. The work is eleganity printed and bound, and contains good half-tone likenesses of the Governor and other Territorial officers, and of every member of the Council and House of Representatives. On the first cover page is a handsome engraving of the new Capitol building, which is a source of so much pride to Arizona, and to Phoenix in particular. Mr. McClintock, under the capiton "Arizona's maturity," tells much of interest about the rise and progress of the Territory. "There is a happy coincidence," he says, "in the fact that the Twenty-first Legislature of Arizona is the first to occupy Arizona's new Capitol. It may be likened unto a youth who has arrived at man's age, and who has taken unto himself the heritage of manhood and has founded himself a home."

The monster petition of the liquor men, containing over 10,000 signatures favorable to the opening of saloons on Sunday afternoon, was withdrawn yesterday, after a wordy wrangle on the floor of the City Council Chamber. Messrs. Bowen, Allen, Walker, Pierce, McLain, Blanchard and President Powers opposed the petition directly. Messrs. Todd and Lauder favored the submission of the question to the voters at the poils.

Messrs. Tood and Lauder lavored the submission of the question to the voters at the polls.

"We recommend that petition No. 257 from the Liquor Dealers' Protective Association of Los Angeles county, asking that the ordinance now in force, fixing the hours during which saloons may be opened, be amended so as to permit saloons to remain open Sunday afternoon, be denied."

Such was the report of the Committee of Legislation on the liquor dealers' petition. It was signed by Messrs. Bowen and Blanchard, Mr. Lauder, the chairman, did not sign.

The report was quiet enough in its terms, but it raised an uproar in the Council. Although the lie did not pass directly, it was strongly intimated by members that certain other members meed not consider veracity their long suit. Messrs. Todd and Lauder were charged with violating their caucus pledges.

President Powers made a speech to ear suit. Messrs. Todd and Lauter seere charged with violating their caucus pledges.

President Powers made a speech to the liquor men on a subject which had not been brought up, and half an hour after the affair was all over, Mr. Pierce suddenly awoke from a trance and nurled at his colleagues this pertinent question, "Where are we at?"

At the conclusion of the morning session the body went into secret caucus for nore than an hour. Widely-differing stories are told of what occurred there. It is asserted on the best authority that when the caucus was over all-had agreed to immediate action, and that the Council was a unit against the petition.

But when the legislative solons filed into the Council chamber in the afternoon, and saw Gen. C. F. A. Last, John Hauerwass, Joe Maler and Attorney Finlayson of the Liquor Dealers' Association occupying seats of honor inside the railing, and a sea of saloon men's faces crowding the lobby to the railing, some of their knees began to knock together most lamentably. You would have thought they had been struck by a ft of age.

that it is not proper to submit the question to the voters at this time. Continuing, he said:

"No reason was advanced at the caucus why this should go over a week. Any resson that may be presented now must have been conceived since adjournment was had. There is no reason on earth for such action. Both sides were given a full and fair hearing. Why we should put the matter over a week, that these people can get together, I don't see. The only question now is whether the Committee on Legislation is ready to report and make final disposition of the big petition. I object to such methods as are followed here, and if the chairman is not ready to report. I am."

"The Council went into caucus at 11:10 o'clock," said Councilman Pow-ra, "and was there until after 12 y'clock. We reached a decision there ugainst this proposition, and it seems seculiar that such a request should be nade now. Had it been discussed before the caucus decision, it would have been different."

Mr. Plerce thought the proceedings rregular, and with his declaration lev. C. P. Dorland and Rev. Will A. Chighten, who were on hand to oppose he petition, began to breathe a little asier. After some discussion, Mr. "lerce's views were sustained, and lerk Haskins was permitted to read he report.

"We will see whether I will tell the truth." retorted Bowen.

"Well, you do not tell the truth," came back the Eighth warder.

"I will tell the truth," almost shouted Bowen as he reiterated his former statement and entered further into the details of the caucus.

Todd's motion to postpone was then put with the following result: Ayes: Todd. Lauder. Noes: Bowen, Blanchard, Pierce. McLain, Walker, Allen and President Powers.

Pierce then moved that the report of the Committee on Legislation be adopted and Bowen seconded. Todd promptly made an amendment to the effect that the ordinance be submitted to the voters at a special election and followed it up with a speech of some length.

Allen eaid it would be time enough to submit it to the people when the request was made by somebody besides those directly interested. Todd answered that 10,000 names on a petition spoke for themselves.

"I am surprised," said Mr. Bowen, waving his arm in Todd's direction, "that the member from the Eighth, who has posed as the watch dog of the treasury since I entered the Council should advocate this expense without the request for an election having been made by anybody except himself and the member from the Seventh. I am astonished that for the purpose of sidetracking the contemplated action of this Council, and for no other purpose, he should be so ready to loose the treasury strings. It is only boy's play and should be put aside as if the proposition had never been made."

After more talk the election amendment was put, receiving the same vote as the motion to postpone.

President Powers and Mr. Blanchard then devoted a few minutes to telling the liquor men that they would favor an election if a petition was presented in regular order.

FRANCHISES ASKED. LIGHTING COMPANIES EAGER.

Company renewed its application for a franchise to run fifty years. The petition was signed by John T. Jones, Esq., who represents Chicago capitalists. It was referred without comment to the Board of Public Works. Walter Bacon, Esq., who represents parties in Omaha, was only a little behind in presenting a somewhat similar petition. At the afternoon session he asked that a franchise be granted him for the transmission of light, heat and power, generated by electricity or gas. This petition was also referred to the board.

The form of ordinance submitted by Attorney Jones provides simply for lighting. It contains the usual regulations regarding the erection of poles and laying of conduits. In addition it is agreed to furnish free lighting to schoolhouses, engine-houses, and other public buildings wherever the poles or conduits of the company shall come within 300 feet of them. As this franchise is merely for lighting purposes it is said it can be granted direct to the applicant if the Council so desires. The application stated that work is to begin within two years. The constitution of the State provides that any person who desires may secure a franchise for the distribution of gas, electricity or other illuminating products subject only to the general restrictions established by the Council. A special exception to this effect is made in the Broughton law which affects all other franchises but those for necessary commodities. As, the franchise which is asked by Attorney Bacon for his Omaha clients includes "heat and power" in its scope as well as lighting, it will have to be offered for competitive bidding. The form of ordinance submitted is very liberal in its terms and it is apparently hoped that this will prove an incentive to favorable action by the Council.

The city is given the right gation of a case perfectly unblased, but before they shall have gone far into the case, that on hearing some of the testimony they shall become heated and form opinions? Certainly they have got to form opinions? Certainly they have got to form opinions from the testimony; they have to base an opinion upon the testimony; and if in the course of the investigation, before they come to the point where they dismiss the shorthand reporter and the et ceteras around them and stand up to consider the testimony as to whether or no they will bring in an indictment against a man, after they thus begin there is no ground to challenge a grand juror, because he may have fallen into that state of mind after beginning the investigation. That is the view I take of it.

within sixty days without charge for the extension.

The application even goes so far as to say that the company will supply the city without cost with such light, heat and power, both electricity and gas, as the Council may cerm necessary for all public buildings within 300 feet of which there is a pole or conduit line. Work must be commenced in good faith within four months from the date of the passage of the ordinance, and fifty miles of poles and wires, five miles of underground conduits constructed and fifty miles of gas mains laid within one year.

ground conduits constructed and may miles of gas mains laid within one year.

After the expiration of five years the company agrees to pay to the city annually 2 per cent. of the gross receipts arising from the use and begration of the franchise. For the faithful performance of the conditions of the proposed ordinance the petitioners agree to file a bond for $25,000 within five days from its passage, the entire sum to be held by the city as liquidated damages.

It will be remembered that just prior to the expiration of the last Council's term, Attorney Jones presented a like petition to the municipal legislature. After an exhaustive hearing, it was denied. This action was in part charged to the complexity of the franchise laws, but more particularly to the statement of Attorney Bacon that the parties he represented would pay a round sum out of hand for what the city was asked to give oway, just as soon as a message could be sent to and from the Missouri River.

[AT THE COURTHOUSE.] THE GRAND JURY IS A VALID BODY.

TUDGE SMITH SUSTAINS INDICT-MENTS AGAINST VAUGHN.

Drug Men Must Now Face Trial-Court Holds That Property Qualification is not Ground for Setting Aside and Talks Interestingly of Bias.

The indictments of the grand jury against John W. Vaughn and two of his partners in the Off & Vaughn Drug Company, who are charged with pre-senting fraudulent claims against the ounty for drugs, have been sustained.
The validity of the grand jury is thus affirmed by the Superior Court.

Judge Smith has had the matter under consideration since Thursday, when a motion to set aside the indictments and dismiss the proceedings was ments and dismiss the proceedings was argued at length before him by J. W. McKinley, Esq., for the Vaughn contingent, and by Deputy District Attorney Jones for the State.

Yesterday the judge swept away both the contentions of the defendants—with regard to the necessity of a juror's name being on the assessment roll and with regard to bias. Vaughn and his colleagues must go to trial. They are given till next Monday to enter their pleas.

tion, and the other was as to whether the evidence disclosed such actual bias as entitled the defendant to a challenge of individual grand Jurors or any individual grand Juror.

The court then read the provisions of section 995 of the Penal Code, as to the specifications on which a motion to set aside must be based, and observed that the first ground urged in the Vaughn case as to property qualification is not included in the causes for setting aside.

"So then," said the court, after a brief discussion, "it would seem that that could not be urged as a cause for setting aside an indictment."

ABOUT BIAS.

The law in the premises was then discussed in technical detail as to constitutional and statutory provisions and remedies, the court concluding that a writ of prohibition was the only remedy, but that in this case it could hardly lie, and finally the question of bias was reached. The defendants had urged that several of the jurges were biased against them prior to the investigation of Vaughn's alleged drug frauds, and that during the taking of testimony they (the jurges) had expressed opinions in the presence of witnesses, contrary to law. Judge Smith had the following to say on the subject of bias:

"When an investigation is commenced, when the testimony is under consideration and witnesses are being interrogated, we must expect some latitude. Of course it should be kept within reasonable bounds, but we must expect some latitude: and while the record shows feeling, bias, and all that on the part of certain grand jurgers toward this defandant—especially Mr. Vaughn-yet that was after the investigation began; that is, while the case was under consideration.

On August 6, 1900, it is alleged, Hall represented to Mrs. Ricketts that he could get her a valuable block of oil stock for $1000 at a nominal figure, and upon consideration she passed him over the money. In due time he delivared her 5000 shares of the Vesta stock, averring, she says, that to get the was compelled to pay 20 cents a share. Joe Lodewyck, an electric lineman, came out of quarantine the other day mad enough to lick the first thing he saw. His enthusiasm did not give out until he had finished three fights. He started in fighting Sunday morning about 9 o'clock, on First and Main streets, and would probably have been fighting yet had not a policeman come along. The copper saw him dance up to one man and hit him, then up to another and repeat the compliment, and then to a third.

"He, was like a wild man." said the policeman in awed recollection.

when the policeman remonstrated with Mr. Fergueson, he tried to slay the copper.

Fergueson began the glad celebration by being thrown out of the First-Street Hotel. Officer Craig, whe happened to come along, suggested that Mr. Fergueson go home, but Mr. Fergueson answered, saying that he would not go home, but that he would have the life of the cop.

A terrific fight then occurred between Fergueson and the policeman. Two other officers came to the rescue, and Fergueson was subdued.

This was not exactly the account given to the Court by Fergueson himself.

Said Fergueson, "Your Honor, I says to the cop, "You never pinch nobody but workingmen," and then he give me a crack over the ear, and that's all."

or weight, or anything else that you can name that makes it the grain of sand—that makes it the sesence. The wise man finds that the more be knows the more he realizes his 'gnorance—the more his horizon widens. When the feeling of the boundlessness of the universe generates the feeling of mightiness in a man, that man is not very far from the road which will lead him to the source of things—the supernatural. The world can not have brought itself into existence. There must be outside physical universe, a first cause, by which it came to be. And if such a first cause exists why may He not reveal himself to us? Admitting that we might not know Him by our reason alone, why might He not communicate Himself to us? We have the power to communicate with one another. That faculty has been given us by Him who gave us our being. Now then, every power that He has given us He must himself possess in an infinite degree. Then assuredly He desires so to do. I think He has thus revealed Himself.

"The natural cannot initiate a command, and there are commands. There is a law within you—the law of conscience. Nature can not have laid it down; nature is blind and irrational. There is not a man under the sun that has not this law within him, that does not know that some things are wrong and some are right. Conscience cannot be explained except by the supposition that some one put it into man. All other explanations are inadequate. The man who denies this may attempt to create his own moral laws; but he has to change them continually."

In a final application of the thoughts thus enunciated, Bishop Montgomery while approving intellectual development, urged his hearers not to forget in this their relation to the supernatural and their opportunity to mold the moral life of the race through their influence. He thought woman suffrage might be defended from the point of view of pure reason, but doubted its expediency. He deprecated the necessity under which many women were at present earning their own living, and thought that in time eco Society, was celebrated Easter Monday evening by a banquet and charity ball in Turner Hall on South Main street. The attendance was very large, and it is said that the entertainment in point of elegance eclipsed at that of any previous season.

The large dancing hall was decorated with smilax, roses, carnations, a...es, ferns and palms. The stage where Grosser's Orchestra was stationed, was banked with tropical foliage and laies. In one corner a soda booth was arwaned. The decorations consisted of red roses and bamboo stocks. Mrs. Frank P. Shepardson and Mrs. W. F. Grosser were in charge. Mrs. A. Rudolph was chalrman of the Decoration Committee, and she was ansisted by Mrs. Frank P. Shepardson and Miss Louise Myers.

Tables in the two banquet halls were arranged for more than three hundred guests, and even then the seating capacity was not sufficient to accommodate the crowd.

Dancing was resumed after suppor, and a delightful programme of music was played by Grosser's Orchestra.

Mrs. J. Johannsen is president of the society; Mrs. John Hauerwaas, vice-president; Mrs. C. J. Kubach, second vice-president; Mrs. W. F. Grosser, secretary; Mrs. John Smith, treasurer. The society assists needy German families, or those of German descent. The funds are obtained from the resular does, and from the annual festival. The sum of $1900 a year is thus distributed among the poor and needy.

The entertainment yesterday evening was in charge of the following committees:

Reception—Messrs. A. Frese, L. Roeder, C. J. Kubach, J. Hauerwaas, William Otten, C. J. Rohde, E. Klesshauer.

Committee of Arrangements—Messrs. W. F. Grosser, J. Smith, J. Johannsen, E. B. Rudolph, G. Bayha, T. Haverty, R. H. Krause, William Mueller.

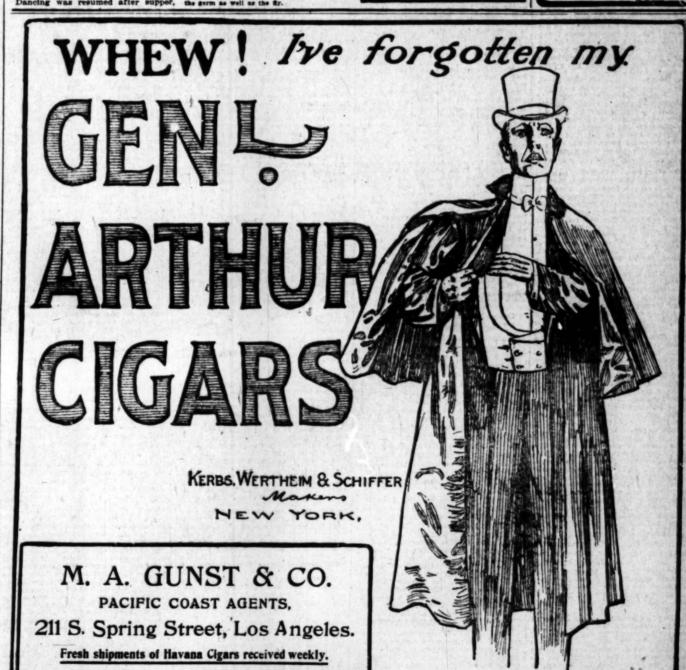

Floor manager—Louis Breer.

Aldes—Messrs. M. Mendelson, C. Rohde, Max Bayha, Max Morloch, H. Grass.

Physician

When a good physician prescribes beer for a patient it is Schlitz beer. A physician knows the value of purity.

Ask him how germs affect beer and he will tell you that few stomachs can digest them. He will say at once that impure beer is unhealthful.

You will know then why we brew under such rigid pre-cautions — why we even filter the air that touches it; why we filter the beer, then sterilize every bottle.

If you knew what we know and what your physician knows about beer, you, too, would insist on Schlitz.

New County Government Act in Doubt.

Increased Salary List May Not be a Go.

Patronage Under the Measure Farmed Out-Political Chit-Chat.

the County Government Act, passed, by the Legislature at the session re-cently closed, is now up to the Dis-trict Attorney, and Deputy Wilbur, to whom most questions on constitutional law arising at the Courthouse are referred, is expected to render an opinion on the same today. Until that opinion is given, sundry local politicians will remain on tenterhooks, as their ability to get at the public crib in the near future depends largely, if not altogether, upon the stand the District Attorney's office will take in relation to the matter. Notwithstanding the fact that the Los Angeles county delegation to the Legislature was piedged to a reduction of the county salary list, by the Republican County Convention, the County Government Act which was ed practically increases the salary official may have his salary increased during his term of office, but that it may be decreased at the pleasure of the legislative body. While the new County Government Act does not essay to increase the salaries of the heads of any of the county offices, it provides for an additional number of deputies in some of the offices, which will have the effect of swelling the pay roll as already stated. Among the offices affected by the provisions of the bill is that of the County Auditor. Auditor Nichols is entitled to an additional deputy, under this bill, but before accepting the additional help for his office or agreeing to pass favorably upon

In the appointment of the would-be deputies the hand of Walter F. X. Farker, which was so potent in getting the county salary list increased, again is seen. Senator Simpson, who again is seen. Senator Simpson, who was most ardent in championing the bill for an increase of county patronage from the start, counted on having a voice in the naming of some of the candidates for the new jobs. It was his purpose particularly to provide a place for A. L. Manahan of Pasadena, who has been of some service to the party in recent campaigns. Manahan is withal a handy man in a cierical position and has invariably given good satisfaction in whatever capacity he has labored. Simpson wanted the new Deputy Auditorship for Manahan and he presumed he would have the naming of the man for the job, but it develops now that Walter Parker claims the place for Jim Maredith and has virtually promised the latter the job.

claims the place for Jim Assection and has virtually promised the latter the job.

Meredith and Manahan both were attaches of the late Legislature, the former being employed as an assistant sergeant-at-arms of the Assembly, and the latter as a committee clerk in the Senate. The rivalry between them is purely friendly, the real fight for the office apparently being between their respective backers. It does not appear to have occurred to anyone that Auditor Nichols should have a voice in the selection of his deputy, though so far as known, Manahan's appointment would be agreeable to him, and he probably would not object to Meredith, either, the latter having had abundant office experience, having had one term as Coroner of the county and served as County Clerk during a brief period. He has also held important deputyships in various city and county offices.

PARKER'S PREROGATIVE.

PARKER'S PREROGATIVE. The reason that Nichols's preference is not consulted in the matter is said to be due to an understanding that Parker was to have control of the patronage created by the new County Government Act as a reward for his services in preventing the adoption of a bill that would have cut the salaries of the county officials.

But Senator Simpson thinks he should have some 'recognition, also, for refusing to be bound by the pledges of his party. He is not unfriendly to Parker's friend Meredith, and he would like to see the latter provided for in some capacity or other, but he says he had this rarticular place in view for Manahan when he made his fight for the amended County Government Bill, and in view of his services in behalf of that measure he thinks he ought to have the naming of at least one beneficiary of the measure. Furthermore, he says, he championed the County-Government Bill of two years ago, and never had the naming of a single beneficiary of that measure except one Insignificant copyist in the office of the county recorder.

In his own mind Simpson thinks he ought to receive as much distinguished consideration in the apportionment of spoils as Boss Farker, but the latter does not appear to be able to see it in that light, and in the end the Pasadena relic may have to surrender the coveted morsel to the political walking delegate who is reputed to have railroad passbooks galore at his command and to be the possessor of a big pull at Sacramento and in San Francisco, where the boss of the whole "push" Dan Burns, has his lair.

POLITICAL CALM. Outside of the squabble over the pie provided by the new County Government Act, there is not much going on in local political circles at present. The next campaign is still too far off for next campaign is still too far off for any real earnest log-rolling to begin, still certain would-be candidates are already beginning to build their fences. There is lots of talk about everything being set up for Gov. Henry T. Gage being renominated to succeed himself. It is pretty certain at this stage of the game that such a programme would be agreeable to the "push" of both parties, whose object it would be in the event of Gage's trying for a second term to nominate a weak D moc ats to run against him. But politicians generally concede that it is SHORTRIDGE'S SURVEY. A small ripple of interest in State politics was created by the recent visit of Samuel M. Shortridge to this end of the State in the furtherance of his Senatorial ambitions. Samuel will exhaust all his eloquence, if needs be, between now and the next session of the Legislature to vault into the seat now occupied by George C. Ferkins in the national Senate. If there is any virtue in getting an early start, he ought to be in the race somewhere at the finish, but it is too early to deterfine whether his conferences with the party workers at this end of the State fine whether his conferences with the party workers at this end of the State have done him any good. It is said however, that he is not discouraged over the outlook. FEDERAL PATRONAGE.

START EARLY.

Few persons who witness a floral parade have any conception of the days of study and the many hours of manual labor which are required to set before their eyes the gorgeous displays of Flora's wonders. Weeks before the event the intending participants begin the preparations for their displays. They delve into newspapers and magazines for descriptions of floral fetes at home and abroad, and not infrequently call to their assistance for its and decorators to aid them in devising attractive floats or schemes for embellishing carriages and "carts. Simple or elaborate, mild or gaudy, a decision must be made long in advance of the event, and to assure freedom from disappointment the flowers to be used must be engaged early, as, no matter how bountiful may be the supply of blossoms, the demand is so great at the last minute that late-day applicants usually are compelled to accept inferior blooms.

The fleid for the choice of schemes is almost limitless; mythology, the arts and sciences, history, folk lore and legend, and even the handicrafts are drawn on to furnish ideas, and again there are displays in which the principal intent is so to mass the flowers and colors as to form a pleasing effect.

The flowers to work with are intended to meantly but

PASADENA HINTS.

The turnout at the Pasadena Tournament of Roses upon which the judges conferred first honors was Mrs. R. H. Gaylord's double carriage, upon which had been massed in artistic array more than 2500 pink and white carnations, and 150 very heavy strings of smilax. This decoration involved an outlay of about $75 for the flowers and greenery, and the expenditure of many hours of is used in place of cheesecloth and cardboard, and a good effect is obtained.

While the carriages form the principal displays, the effect is augmented by the decoration of the horses, and these decorations range from the simple wrapping of the harness with colored cloth, sometimes stuck with flowers, to elaborate collars and saddle blankets made of masses of blossons. While many days may be spent in the study of designs to be followed only a few hours are available for the actual decoration of the vehicles, as the flowers must be freshly picked to avoid g shabby display. Where the festival is to take place in the morning the entire night preceding is occupied in making ready and the placing of the flowers is delayed until the last possible minute. With large floats it becomes absolutely necessary to put some of the flowers in position at night and many hands are required to do the work. In such cases the less delicate blossoms are used first and the frail blooms are placed only when necessary.

Persons who intend to make a show-

Because the itinerary of the Presidential party has been somewhat changed the Flesta. Committee has been asked to change the date of the floral parade. It has been set for Wednesday, May 8. The President will, however, not arrive in Los Angeles until the afternoon of that day. Therefore the parade will be held Thursday, if tonight the Flesta Committee takes the action anticipated, and which it has been invited to do by the Executive Committee.

In a letter dated April 6, Henry W. Scott of San Francisco says to Mr. Holabird of this city, referring to the Presidential party: "We have now definitely arranged to arrive at Los Angeles on Wednesday, May 8, at 2:30 p.m. and leave Los Angeles on Friday. May 10, at 6 a.m. This is the official settlement of the route, and I trustyou will be able to satisfactorily arrange all your matter in accordance therewith."

In view of the fact that this "offi-cial" statement cuts the President's visit to Los Angeles down to two days, visit to Los Angeles down to two days, instead of three days, as was at first scheduled. Ferd K. Rule, president of the Executive Committee, has written to Secretary Cortelyou at Washington to ascertain if it is possible to have the President stay here three days. Until an answer is received, the Executive Committee will make no definite arrangements for the visit in Los Angeles.

The Army and Navy League and the Knights Templars, as well as the G.A.R., want'Mr. McKinley to attend functions arranged by them, in his honor. This matter came up for consideration last evening, and it is probable that the committee will arrange to have the President spend half an hour with each of these organizations.

A public reception—not of the handshaking order—will probably be arranged during the visit of the distinguished officials and to this end the committee has decided to secure the refusal of the use of Hazard's Pavilon for Wednesday evening, say 8. It was suggested that the President be presented with a huge bouquet to hold in his right hand during the reception, to indicate that hand-shaking is not in order.

It is estimated that at least 12,000 school children will witness the parade, thereby being given an opportunity to see the President, who will ride at the head of the pageant in the handsomest decorated vehicle that can be secured. At a special meeting of the Board of Education, called to consider the invitation to the pupils from the Executive Committee, it was decided that the schools shall cooperate in so far as the children are voluntarily willing.

APeriect Food Drink

Possesses a delicate flavor and fragrant aroma not found in any other cereal coffee.

Figprune consists entirely of California figs, prunes and grain-scientifically blended.

Our own special method of manufacturing enables us to retain all the natural properties of the fruit and grain, giving to the consumer a table beverage of rare quality.

Figs and prunes, properly roasted, will brew as quickly as coffee, and the grain, treated by our method, infuses almost as readily. This is why Figprune should be boiled from 5 to 10 minutes only.

Cereal coffees composed mainly of solid grain, bran, etc. must be boiled from 15 to 25 minutes. Every housewife knows that continuous boiling destroys the flavor and aroma of any beverage.

Figprune is absolutely free from any artificial matter-a satisfying substitute for coffee and tea.

He Wears Dismonds is His Ears.

[Paris Correspondence London Telegraph:] The other evening in a Rue Royale restaurant, which is a great place for supper parties, a man who is often seen there by night and on the boulevards by day appeared wearing diamond earrings. As he is not an Italian organ grinder, a Spanish bull fighter or a Tsigan bandsman, but a leader of fashion, his entrance thus adorned caused some excitement. The question now, is whether his new venture will prosper. No trustworthy evidence is obtainable of any other boulevardier having yet been similarly beautified, and according to most accounts if the young bloods of Paris are considering at all the question of taking up the new fashion they are considering it in the privacy of their dressing rooms. On the other hand, some authorities say that, although no second man has yet dared to wear errings, many have so far been won over by his example as to be seriously thinking of getting their ears plerced.

THEY WERE NOT READY. Mr. Carnegie has recently said that the opportunities for young men were as great today as ever. That probably is true. But are the young men as great today as ever. That probably is true. But are the young men as great as ever? The officer of a prominent hank, says the American Banker, not so long ago called his subordinates together and made the announcement that there was a vacancy in the cashlership of a country bank which was available to the man who felt himself competent to fill it. Not a man reponded. What could have been the difficulty? It cannot be assumed that there was not a single individual in this body of well-disciplined and industrious clerks with sufficient intelligence to adapt himself readily to the requirements of the offered post. The confessed disability must have been of some other nature than mere want of mentality. Nor can the incident be explained on the ground that the proposed candidates felt themselves deactent in the mechanical routine of banking machinery. That would simply belie the training which they had received. The fundamental difficulty in this case has a two-fold aspect. It was want of executive experience and lack of courage. There is nothing whicheso steadily deprives a man of his power to initiate and execute as constant application to a course of duty which runs in an invariable groove, and cails for no higher faculty than promptitude and attention. In a bank the ceaseless round of the same petty exits and entrances, persistently followed day by day, with no call for those movements and ventures that must be preceded with an exercise of judgment, converts a man into a mere animated tool. It is creditable to the general run of bank clerks that large numbers of them do not resort to drink as a preventive of that chronic mental torpor into which so many of them finally sink. The clerks who refused the cashiership in the country tank probably never had a chance to exercise their executive capacity—except, parhapa, on their wives—and they considered th was polled, but there was no unusual excitement.

The following officials were elected: Marshal, Ben Souther, Republican; treasurer, Marion Aldridge, Democrat; assessor, Samuel Rolfe, Republican; recorder, J. B. Goodlett, Democrat; attorney, C. C. Haskell, Republican; City Trustees, First Ward, J. J. Hanford, Democrat; Second, D. H. Wixon, Democrat; Fourth, J. C. Wees, Republican; Board of Education, J. B. Frith, M. M. Parker, T. O. Carter. Much interest in the election centered in the fight for City Trustee in the First Ward, where Hanford, the present president of City Board of Trustees, won by a good majority over Harrison, independent candidate. The surprise of the election was the victory of Souther over Handeren.

CONVENT ROBBED.

The Catholic convent on Sixth street was ransacked yesterday by some unknown person, who is possessed of an extraordinary amount of nerve. While the mother superior and the pupils were attending mass at the church, a man called at the convent and asked a nurse, who had been left in charge of a sick child, for a hammer. He said he had been sent to repair the electric wires. He had the freedom of the premises for some time, the nurse not suspecting that anything was wrong. He ransacked the rooms thoroughly, his object apparently money. The mother superior's room was entered through the transon. A small amount of cash was taken from one of the bureau drawers. The thief got away without difficulty, the robbery not being known of until the return of the mother superior from church.

and the road completed to Los Angeles within two years; the successful bidder to put up a bond of $500 for the faithful carrying out of the requirements of the franchise. Another feature is the payment of 2 per cent. of the gross earnings within the city after five years.

Mr. Cronenwett says the company will at once apply to the Board of Supervisors for a franchise over certain county roads. It is the intention to run west from Monrovia to Lamada, thence south through Alhambra to Los Angeles, with a branch to Sierra Madre, or probably the main line to run through that village: also an extension east to Duarte.

When this road is completed, the extension of the Pasadena road to Lamanda, with transfer privileges, would be very desirable.

The company proposes to construct its power-house in Monrovia, and make this place headquarters.

NEW LAW FOUND WANTING.

SAN DIEGO, April 8.—[Regular Cor-respondence.] The County Board of Supervisors have ground out the first batch of saloon licenses under the new ordinance requiring applicants in all places not incorporated to furnish the names of a least 50 per cent, of the qualified voters of the district, on the petition. The hearings developed the fact that the petitions included many men who, while voters, are not tax-navers. Supervisor Justice was the men who, while voters, are not taxpayers. Supervisor Justice was the only man who refused to vote against the granting of any petitions on these grounds. In one instance it was shown that twenty-one of the fifty-eight names on the petition were of voters not taxpayers. Mr. Justice avers that it is an injustice for saloons to be foisted upon the people upon the representation of this class of petitioners, and he is in for an amendment to the ordinance providing that all signers to saloon petitions shall be taxpayers as well as voters. This matter he had

In his vest pocket was a letter from his daughter in Chicago, Mrs. George Hartwell. Deputy Coroner F. A. Backs wired her this morning and she enswered to ship the body East if the expense would not be too great; otherwise to bury here and she would pay.
Bobrick had been a hard drinker for many years. The Coroner held an inquest. The jury's verdict was in accordance with the facts.

A subpoens has been served on the secretary of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company, commanding the board of directors to appear in the United States Circuit Court in Los Angeles. May 6, to answer to a complaint against the irrigation company which has been filed by the Rincon Water and Power Company. This case affects the water rights of almost all the ranchers in this section of the Santa Ana Valley.

A petition is circulated in the western part of the county, to be forwarded to the Secretary of War at Washington, praying that the dam of the Bolsa Chico Gun Club be removed from the mouth of Bolsa Chico Bay. The paper already has several hundred signatures.

William Morris has been arrested here and failed as a vagrant, but it is believed by the officers that he knows something of a valise, with valuable contents, stolen recently from the Southern Pacific depot. Los Angeles detectives were here Saturday interviewing the culprit.

While playing near an oil well on Boston street, near Temple, yesterday afternoon, Archie Bray, aged 5 years, received injuries which will cripple him for life. The child had been playing about the street for several hours and finally approached an oil well pumping cable which hung low enough for him to grasp it. Suddenly there was a piercing scream and the child was seen dangling from a block through which the pumping cable ran. It was impossible to stop the cable and those who responded to the child's scream were compelled to hold the bey until the return motion of the cable released his hand from the block. Then it was found that the first three fingers of the baby's right hand had been torn from the sockets at the third joints, leaving the stubse of the bones on the back of the hand stripped of flesh. The pain was so great that the child fainted, and it was not until some hours afterward that the little one returned to consciousness.
